

"The freedom to travel in time"

Bridging Ages International Conference
is held in Tartu, Estonia 09.-13.9 2019

Welcome!!

THE AIM of the conference is to bring together, from all over the world, Time Travel specialists and those interested in Time Travels to discuss best practices and to exchange experiences.

During the conference we will focus on the following themes:

- How does Time Travel as a method contribute to the maintenance and development of democratic processes and personal freedom in society?
- Are freedom and responsibility incompatible?
- The meaning of freedom, can it mean different things to different groups?
- Can we see the future by looking at current global processes? Can Time Travels help us in this?

The topic of the conference, "The freedom to travel in time", explores whether this method give us the freedom to talk about problematic or taboo topics of everyday society and can we contribute to the society by doing so?

ORGANIZERS

The Estonian National Museum was founded in Tartu in 1909 on the initiative and with the support of the nation – with the task to protect and develop the history and culture of Estonia. In 2018 the Museum, together with the Estonian History and Civics Teachers Association, for the first time organized a nationwide Time Travel, with more than 8400 participating students to the end of February of 1918. i.e. to the time when the knowledge that Estonian had gained its independence reached people in all corners of the country.

Bridging Ages International 15th Annual Conference Conference Program

Foto/Photo: Jaanus Pähn

Monday, September 9th

Arriving to Tartu, get-together

Tuesday, September 10th

Location: Estonian National Museum

9.30 Registration

10.00 Opening and Welcome Address

10.15 Keynote Merilin Piipuu

11.00 Papers 11.30

11.30 Coffee break

12.00 Keynote Martin Kaevats

12.45 Papers

13.30 Lunch

14.30 Papers

16.15–18.00 Guided tours at the exhibitions

18.00–22.00 Dinner at the Estonian National Museum restaurant

Wednesday, September 11th

Location: Estonian National Museum

9.30 Keynote: Johanna Björkholm (PhD)

11.30 Coffee break

12.00 Time Travel to 1869

Please, if possible, bring a historical costume or part of it with you.

More about the Song Celebration:

<https://2019.laulupidu.ee/en/history/>

<https://www.visitestonia.com/en/why-estonia/welcome-to-the-estonian-song-and-dance-celebration-2019>

Thursday, September 12th

Location: Estonian National Museum

9.30 Gathering at the Museum

11.00 Start for the chosen study trip

- Study trip to Setomaa (max 35 people)
or

- Tartu City tour by bus and on foot

20.00 Closing

Friday, September 13th

Post-conference day in Tallinn

Please note: voluntary and for a separate fee.

Keynote speakers at the conference

Marten Kaevats does not know much about Time Travel method, but in the context of „can we see the future“, he is a perfect speaker, a visionary man who can see the rapid changes of technology in the perspective of community, how the community adapts it. If the community accepts the changes more easily than benefits can come much faster.

Marten Kaevats is a national digital advisor of The Government Office of Estonia. He is an expert in Artificial Intelligence (AI), He is a key figure within one of the world’s most advanced digital governments. And he has a clear picture of Estonia’s direction of travel: it is heading, he says, for “invisible” government. Read more:

<https://govinsider.asia/innovation/marten-kaevats-national-digital-advisor-estoniasvision-for-an-invisible-government/>

Photo from e-Estonia

Dr Johanna Björkholm has an academic background within the fields of folkloristic and ethnomusicology. She is interested in the processes behind living traditions and the status of intangible cultural heritage. She is a member of the National Expert Committee of Intangible Cultural Heritage in Finland, and her day job deals with awareness raising and network building within the sphere of living traditions and intangible cultural heritage.

Photo: Kim Blåfield

Merilin Piipuu is asking us Can we put freedom into a museum?

One of the main aims of a museum is to educate future generations about history. However, museums are always directed into the past. Therefore, the following question arises: how to tell the history for the ones who do not remember the past. This was one of the main questions when we started renovating the Museum of Occupations in 2015. The aim of the renovation plans was to build a new exhibition that would focus on occupations, resistance, recovery and freedom. In my presentation I will focus on the question’s museum encountered in these discussions and ask if the freedom can be put into a museum.

Photo: Kaupo Kikkas

For the last four years, Merilin has managed the development of the Vabamu Museum of Occupations and Freedom. She now works as the Undersecretary for Cultural Heritage at the Ministry of Culture.

Practical information.

Instruction on how to register and pay are found at the conference website

<https://www.erm.ee/en/content/bridging-ages-international-15th-annual-conference>

The conference will take place in the Estonian National Museum, located in the Tartu, in Raadi area, in 2 kilometres distance of the city centre.

Prices: Western 250 €, Non-Western 190 €

The conference fee will cover paper sessions, lunches, coffee breaks, dinner, Time Travel to 1869, museum tickets and excursion to Setumaa, a region in the South-East of Estonia or Tartu City tour by bus and on foot on September 12th. The post-conference tour in Tallinn is voluntary and for a separate fee.

On the conference website you also find links to selected accommodations

Estonia.

Estonia is located in the northeast of Europe. The population is 1,3 million. The conference is held in Tartu. Last time Estonia hosted the conference in 2011 in Tallinn, the capital. On 7.2 2018, Estonia as the first country in the Bridging Ages network, organized a nationwide Time Travel for 8700 participants (Read more in Newsletter 1/2019)

<https://www.freeworldmaps.net/europe/>
<https://www.freeworldmaps.net/europe/estonia/map.html>

To be part of the mailing list or subscribe to the newsletter, please send an e-mail to: annina.ylikoski@obotnia.fi

Layout: Kalmar läns museum. Linda.liljeberg@kalmarlansmuseum.se